

Grady-White Canyon 336

Redesigned for the 2020 model year, Grady-White updated the Canyon 336 with a full height glass windshield, an integrated T-top and a new helm. The family sportfisher also received new styling elements for the model that was introduced more than a decade ago.

The redesigned console and T-top improved the walkaround area, creating more space in the cockpit and bow. A deluxe lean bar features three Command Elite helm chairs with flip-up bolsters and footrests. Other goodies include 45-gallon insulated raw water livewell, rigging station with cold freshwater shower, 104-quart cooler, cutting board, lockable bulk storage and dedicated tackle storage.

The Canyon 336 comes with a port cockpit door and boarding ladder, providing easy access. The bow has an enlarged forward console seat and a pair of 204-quart fish boxes. The space doubles as a lounging area with foldaway forward-facing bolstered backrests.
