Family Time Makes a Comeback When This Grady is on the Water!

At the age of 50, Dan Molino had his first encounter with boating. It made such an impact on him that he immediately purchased a boat for his family. That first boat got them on the water, but Dan realized its ride was not very comfortable when the waves kicked up. A short time later, after riding on a variety of boats at the marina, he purchased his first Grady-White. The Freedom 225 was the perfect day-boat for his family of five. Fifteen years later, with his first grandchild on board, he's even more enamored with the safety and stability Grady-Whites deliver!
