Versatility Keeps These Grady Owners Coming Back for More

A love for fishing, diving, and boat excursions led this husband and wife duo to purchase their fifth Grady-White boat, a Canyon 306. Why? Their reasons are numerous, but safety and versatility are at the top of the list! Living along the Florida coast, Randy and Jill Torres have put their boats through their paces offshore during trips to the Bahamas, but they also enjoy boating on the lakes near their inland horse farm.

HERE'S WHY THEY SAY, "GET THE GRADY!"

Improve Your Fuel Economy and Handling

In this informative video, Eric Sorensen of Grady-White Boats demonstrates the most efficient way to get on plane. Learn how to use your Yamaha gauges and the engine sounds to determine when the boat is properly trimmed, giving you the best prop traction, grip, fuel consumption, and overall ride.

Grady-White Sponsors Pacific Ocean Shark Research

Preserving our fisheries, waterways, and coastal resources is important to Grady-White Boats as well as our boat owners. We support many programs that tag and track fish of all types and sizes throughout the world. One such program has been tagging white sharks off the coast of Monterey, CA, giving insight into their survival and interactions with other animals.
